ABSTRACT

This course guide contains 21 competency goals--keyed to competency objectives, student activities, and suggested resources--for secondary keyboarding/typewriting and advanced typewriting/word processing courses. The 21 competency goals cover the following topics: basic equipment, keyboarding techniques, touch techniques, formatting and document preparation terminology, work habits, leadership skills, proofreading, spelling and accuracy, error correction methods, composing at the keyboard, business correspondence, business forms, tables, reports, reprographic methods, word processing software, administrative support word processing environments, production standards, office communications, word processing simulations, and employability skills. Eleven appendixes, which make up about one-fourth of the document, contain tables of grades for gross words per minute for various semesters and equipment, accuracy grades for beginning and advanced keyboarding students, and checklists for computer/printer parts and electronic typewriter parts. KEYBOARDING/TYPEWRITING
COURSE GUIDE

FOREWORD

Keyboarding/Typewriting has the largest enrollment of any vocational course offered in North Carolina schools. The skills developed in this course can be applied in almost all of today's occupational areas.

Technology is advancing rapidly. While there exists numerous ways of inputting data electronically, the operation of a keyboard is one of the most widely used methods. Because of its extensive use in society, the touch operation of a keyboard has become a necessary basic skill that provides an almost universal tool of communication both personally and professionally.

This course guide was developed as a resource to assist business education teachers in planning for and teaching successful programs in Keyboarding/Typewriting and Advanced Typewriting/Word Processing.

Bob Etheridge
State Superintendent

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The Keyboarding/Typewriting and Advanced Typewriting/Word Processing course guide has been developed through the efforts and contributions of several individuals. The time and knowledge devoted to this project is sincerely appreciated.

The draft of this guide was developed by:

Debbie Autry	Richmond Senior High School Richmond County Schools
Elizabeth Bagwell	Watauga High School Watauga County Schools
Barbara Edwards	Carrington Junior High School Durham County Schools
Beulah Prescott	Pamlico High School Pamlico County Schools
Robin Walton	Kinston High School Kinston City Schools
Jean Way	Rockingham Junior High School Richmond County Schools

Revisions and editing were completed by:

Dr. Randy Joyner	East Carolina University Greenville, North Carolina

ROTATION PLAN FOR
USING BOTH ELECTRONIC TYPEWRITERS AND MICROCOMPUTERS

When equipment for keyboarding instruction consists of both electronic typewriters and microcomputers, students should be provided the opportunity to use both types of equipment. Therefore, a rotation plan should be followed to provide this instructional opportunity.

During the early stages of keyboarding instruction, it is suggested that students be rotated on a weekly basis. After the keyboard and keyboarding techniques have been adequately developed, teachers should rotate between types of equipment at their discretion. However, it is recommended that students be rotated every four to five weeks.

POSITION ON NETWORKING

When considering equipment for keyboarding instruction, teachers should compare the benefits of both a networked system and a stand alone system.

COMPETENCIES

Basic Equipment Functions

COMPETENCY GOAL 1: The learner will identify the purposes and use of an electronic typewriter/microcomputer configuration and follow procedures in equipment manuals.

COMPETENCY OBJECTIVES:

- 1.01 Identify the operating parts of an electronic typewriter/microcomputer.
- 1.02 Describe the purposes of specific electronic typewriter/microcomputer components.
- 1.03 Demonstrate the procedures for preparing hard copies.
- 1.04 Follow procedures in an equipment manual.

Basic Equipment Functions

Objectives: 1.01 - 1.04

- * Direct students to use diagrams of electronic typewriters and microcomputers to identify hardware components.
- * Direct students to touch operative parts as teacher demonstrates.
- * "Walk through" the equipment manual with students so that it may be used as a reference.
- * Direct students to complete checklist for electronic typewriter and microcomputer.

COMPETENCY GOAL 2: The learner will exhibit proper posture, reading, and keyboarding techniques.

COMPETENCY OBJECTIVES:

- 2.01 Be aware of proper posture and reading techniques.
- 2.02 Demonstrate proper keyboarding skills.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES AND RESOURCES

Keyboard Presentation and Techniques

ACTIVITIES	RESOURCES
Objective: 2.02	{
* Distribute a blank diagram of a keyboard to students.	{ Keyboarding Text
* Distribute handouts to students illustrating the proper method of keystroking.	{ Teacher prepared materials
* Use a wall chart to indicate the keys to be learned and the appropriate reach.	{ Wall Chart
* Show transparencies on proper keyboarding skills.	{ Transparencies
* Direct students to repeat in unison the home keys as the appropriate finger is moved.	{
* Direct students to practice fingering keys in the air.	{
* Direct students to do hand and finger exercises and relaxation exercises to strengthen weak fingers and relieve tension.	{
* Direct students to dangle arms by side to relax; keeping one arm dangling, begin keyboarding one-hand words. Repeat process for other arm.	{
* Demonstrate correct keyboarding technique.	{
* Direct students to imitate teacher demonstration collectively.	{
* Direct students to observe "buddy" for correct keyboarding skills as teacher walks around classroom.	{

ACTIVITIES	RESOURCES
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> * Observe the process of learning (techniques) rather than the product while teaching the keyboard. * Review and reinforce frequently proper posture and reading techniques. * Use rhythm records to develop the variable or natural rhythm. * Distribute handouts to students that illustrate the low position of wrists, hands, and arms. * Demonstrate and explain the meaning of low wrists, hands, and arms. * Direct students to imitate position at keyboard. * Distribute handouts to students that illustrate the direct, quick, snap stroke. * Demonstrate the direct, quick, snap stroke and direct students to imitate. * Practice collectively placing fingers on keys with correct curvature of fingers. * Review and reinforce as often as necessary the proper keyboarding techniques. * Direct students to identify problem areas in correct keyboarding by using a problem-solving exercise. * Encourage students to practice as often as possible--as long as it is meaningful practice. 	Teacher prepared materials

COMPETENCIES

Keyboard Presentation and Techniques

COMPETENCY GOAL 3: The learner will use the touch method in operating the keyboard: alphabetic, numeric, symbolic keys, and numeric keypad.

COMPETENCY OBJECTIVES:

- 3.01 Demonstrate the touch method in operating the alphabetic keyboard.
- 3.02 Demonstrate the touch method in operating the numeric keyboard.
- 3.03 Demonstrate the touch method in operating the symbolic keyboard.
- 3.04 Demonstrate the touch method in operating the numeric keypad.
- 3.05 Identify the uses of appropriate function keys.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES AND RESOURCES

Keyboard Presentation and Techniques

ACTIVITIES	RESOURCES
Objectives: 3.01, 3.02, and 3.03
* Define the touch method of keyboarding and how it affects speed and accuracy.
* Distribute handout on touch keyboarding.	Teacher prepared materials
* Direct students to fill in a blank keyboard diagram as new keys are learned. This may be used for practice at home, on the bus, or in spare minutes in other classes.	Keyboarding Diagrams
* Encourage students to read copy slightly ahead of keyboarding.	Keyboarding Text
* Demonstrate the technique of efficient finger movement.
* Use teacher-paced dictation drills to overcome the tendency to ponder over key location. (Teacher should keyboard selected lines along with class, thereby establishing a uniform, steady pace for students to follow.)
* Direct students to locate keys by sight on a keyboard chart.	Wall Chart
* Direct students to locate keys on keyboard.
* Direct students to observe movement of finger to a new key.
* Direct students to observe fingers as teacher dictates a short drill.

Objectives: 3.1, 3.2, 3.3 cont'd.

ACTIVITIES	RESOURCES
* Direct students to keyboard without observing fingers either from word-by-word dictation or self-pacing.	Teacher selected materials (software)
* Direct students to think and to say each letter as it is depressed.
* Schedule practice and recall cycles to guarantee mastery and retention.
* Express interest or concern in both student successes and difficulties.
* Direct "buddies" to observe each other and indicate strengths and weaknesses.	Teacher selected materials
* Observe students carefully to avoid developing "bad habits" during the early stages of learning.
* Use paced or guided writings to develop control of keyboarding motion patterns and speed.
* Modify time schedules to accommodate the pace of learning for various students.
* Periodically encourage the use of good techniques as students keyboard.	Teacher selected materials
* Administer technique timings to develop proper techniques.
* Introduce additional keys as finger motions rather than as individual key locations. (Note: The English language contains 575 two-letter combinations. Good materials provide practice on all of these combinations.)

STUDENT ACTIVITIES AND RESOURCES

Keyboard Presentation and Techniques

ACTIVITIES	RESOURCES
Objective: 3.4
* Emphasize and demonstrate at the micro-computer ten-key numeric pad the correct position of the right hand and the body.	Keyboarding Text
* Prepare and use a wall chart to illustrate the position of the numeric keys, the decimal key and the return key on the ten-key pad. Use the chart to facilitate class discussion.	Wall Chart Equipment Diagram
* Stress the importance of the home-row keys and keeping fingers curved and upright in the home-row position. (Note: The home-row keys can usually be quickly identified by some sort of special indentations or markings on the keys.)
* Introduce additional number keys as finger motions rather than as individual locations. Direct students to practice a variety of all possible number combinations.
* Encourage sight keyboarding at the beginning with a gradual transition to touch keyboarding made through positive reinforcement.
* Provide practice on the ten-key numeric pad at regular intervals throughout the keyboarding course.
* Establish an atmosphere for encouraging student success. Avoid emphasizing negative aspects of the students' skill development.
* Periodically evaluate each student on the ten-key numeric pad technique.

COMPETENCIES

Formatting and Document Preparation

COMPETENCY GOAL 7: The learner will proofread and correct errors in keyboarded copy.

COMPETENCY OBJECTIVES:

- 7.01 Identify various proofreading methods.
- 7.02 Use proofreader's symbols when revising handwritten and hard copy.
- 7.03 Recognize and correct errors in the format of letters, memoranda, reports, and statistical data.
- 7.04 Recognize and correct errors in word division, word spacing, abbreviation and number style, and capitalization.
- 7.05 Recognize and correct errors in punctuation, grammar, and spelling.
- 7.06 Recognize and correct errors in sentence structure, subject-verb agreement, plural and possessive formation and word usage.
- 7.07 Exhibit the use of software package special equipment functions to find and correct errors.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES AND RESOURCES

Formatting and Document Preparation

ACTIVITIES	RESOURCES
Objectives: 7.01 - 7.06
* Prepare a chart or handout illustrating the most commonly used proofreader's marks. Distribute a copy to the students and discuss the meaning and usage of each.	Keyboarding Text Teacher prepared materials
* Distribute a copy of material that has been marked with proofreader's marks to students. Direct students to explain how the text will be changed according to the proofreader's marks.	Reference Manual
* Explain to the students the various types of keyboarding and English errors (substituting one letter for another, transposing letters, adding syllables or words, spacing errors, spelling errors, punctuation errors, subject-verb agreement, etc.) that frequently occur. Direct students to indicate corrections using proofreader's marks in incorrectly keyboarded text.
* Use proofreader's marks when grading students printed copy in order to reinforce symbols.
* Direct students to proofread their papers and verify each word against a correct copy. Also, direct students to read for meaningful content.
* Direct students to proofread their papers as the teacher or another student reads a correct copy.
* Demonstrate the following methods of proofreading:
* right to left reading
* bottom to top reading
* line by line reading

* Direct students to use word processing software to block, copy, and move text.
* Direct students to use word processing software to return to the left margin at the end of keyboarded lines.
* Direct students to use word processing software to reformat margins, tab positions, and automatic paragraph indent.
* Direct students to use the spelling verification feature of word processing software.

COMPETENCIES

Skill Development

COMPETENCY GOAL 8: The learner will produce straight copy material rapidly and accurately using correct techniques.

COMPETENCY OBJECTIVES:

- 8.01 Keyboard from straight copy within three minutes a minimum of 25 wam with no more than three errors while correcting errors during the input process.
- 8.02 Keyboard from straight copy within five minutes a minimum of 35 wam with no more than five errors while correcting errors during the input process.
- 8.03 Keyboard from straight copy within five minutes a minimum of 45 wam with no more than five errors while correcting errors during the input process.

COMPETENCY GOAL 16: The learner will use word processing integrated software to produce documents.

COMPETENCY OBJECTIVES:

- 16.01 Create a document--center, underline, and boldface using word processing software.
- 16.02 Save/store a document using word-processing software.
- 16.03 Edit a document--use editing features using word-processing software.
- 16.04 Print a hardcopy of a document using word-processing software.
- 16.05 Print envelopes and mailing labels using word-processing software.
- 16.06 Create and produce a document using an integrated software package.

ACTIVITIES	RESOURCES
Introductory Activities: (All objectives)	[
* Use handouts to introduce the parts of a diskette; let it serve as a guide for discussing the proper care and handling of software.	[Word Processor's Handbook of Office Skills , Bureau of Business Practice, pp. 7-10
* Distribute old diskettes for students to use while practicing correct procedures for inserting and removing diskettes from disk drives.	[
* Discuss the purpose of a system diskette and how it may differ from the system diskette used by other types of computers	[System Disk Manual
* Use the system manual or a reputable text to discuss formatting--briefly discuss tracks, bytes, and sectors.	[Use 5.25" and 3.5" diskettes--some commercial and some personal
* Use 5.25" and 3.5" diskettes as a basis for discussion on write-protected diskettes--allow students to identify diskettes that are write-protected.	[System Manual
* Use the Reference Manual to your operating system to discuss some of the basic operating commands - Directory, Copy, Erase, Rename, Type, Format, Diskcopy, etc.	[System Manual
* If your system uses internal and external commands, make a poster and display it in room until students become familiar with these commands.	[
* Discuss the advantages and disadvantages of using a networked system.	[

ACTIVITIES	RESOURCES
Objective: 16.02
* Discuss the purpose and advantages of being able to save and store documents on a word processor. Compare it to the conventional method of storing documents in a paper file. Ask students to describe how electronic filing can increase productivity in the office.	Records Management Text Program Reference Manual Wall Charts
* Use the Reference Manual for your word processing program to give the students instructions about naming documents. Discuss the name and number of characters that may be used in a filename, filename extensions, etc.
* Write instructions for saving a document on the chalkboard. Direct students to follow them to save a short document.
* Discuss retrieving a document. Compare to the conventional method of "pulling a file". Discuss the advantages of the electronic method; i.e., faster, less chance of being misfiled, etc.
* Discuss the purpose of a Directory. Write on the chalkboard the command for displaying a directory of the documents already saved.
* Write on the chalkboard the command for retrieving a document. Observe students as they retrieve a previously stored document.
* Create a wall chart to display some of the basic word processing commands as they are introduced.

Word Processing Concepts

COMPETENCY GOAL 17: The learner will describe and analyze the aspects of an administrative support word-processing environment.

COMPETENCY OBJECTIVES:

- 17.01 Describe the basic skills and personal traits needed by a word processing employee in an administrative support word-processing environment.
- 17.02 Describe the three basic word processing office structures.
- 17.03 Identify the basic concepts of word processing.
- 17.04 Identify types of jobs and related salaries available in administrative support occupations.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES AND RESOURCES

Word Processing Concepts

ACTIVITIES	RESOURCES
Objectives: 17.01 - 17.04	Teacher prepared materials
* Discuss the concept that word processing is one of the five subsystems of Information Processing.
* Direct students to prepare a three column chart with the following headings:
Manual Mechanical Electronic
List down the side:
Word Processing Data Processing Reprographics Records Management Distribution/Transmission
Direct students to describe how each of these information processing functions can be executed in each of the three methods. Reinforce the concept that word processing is not new; it is something that has not emerged with the computer, but it is a skill that has existed since the beginning of recorded history.
Direct students to list equipment that could be found in each of these types of offices:
Traditional Office Office in Transition State of the Art Office
Emphasize equipment used for word processing.

ACTIVITIES	RESOURCES
Objectives: 17.01 - 17.04 cont'd.
* Direct students to list job responsibilities of clerical office workers. Illustrate the changing role of an office worker.	Administrative Support Text
* Prepare a wall chart or bulletin board to illustrate the Word Processing Cycle. Note the basic components of the Word Processing Cycle are the same as for any Information Processing cycle.
* Prepare a bulletin board to outline desirable traits and skills needed in a word processing environment.
* Direct students to research salaries in their areas of interest.	Job Search Skills
* Arrange one- or two-hour field trips to local offices of varying sizes and complexity. Direct students to observe how word processing affects an office organization.	Local Business Firms
* Invite people from local businesses to speak about their office structure and how word processing is accomplished.	BOE Advisory Committee
* Discuss how different tasks would be divided in offices.

Office Production Standards

COMPETENCY GOAL 18: The learner will keyboard and format documents according to office production standards.

COMPETENCY OBJECTIVES:

- 18.01 Format and keyboard letters according to established production standards.
- 18.02 Format and keyboard memoranda according to established production standards.
- 18.03 Format and keyboard reports according to established production standards.
- 18.04 Use a transcriber in the preparation of business correspondence.

Office Production Standards

Objective: 18.01

- * Direct students to review formatting business letters.
- * Review the concept of usable copy.
- * Direct students to format 2 usable letters in 30 minutes.

ACTIVITIES	RESOURCES
Objective: 21.03
* Review penmanship procedures to print/write information neatly and legibly. Emphasize consistency when handwriting an application form, i.e., do not mix printing with script, or if printing, do not mix upper and lower case letters. Usually, it is necessary for applicants to complete application forms after they arrive for an interview or when they visit an office to apply for a job; therefore, good penmanship is very important.	Penmanship Textbook Job Search Education , Education Design, Inc., 1988, pp. 88-92.
* Review terminology and abbreviations associated with application forms.
* Review the types of questions frequently contained on a job application form.
* Review the "dos" and "don'ts" of completing a job application form.
* Direct students to collect personal information that will be helpful when completing an application form: personal data, type of work sought, military status, work history, and references. Direct students to collect this information and retain it for use in the future.
* Direct students to complete job applications from local businesses.	Job Application Forms
